Policies & Information 2018-2019

- Every student should expect to work in a safe and supportive environment. My goal is to work with each student's individual talents and needs throughout the year. My expectation is that each student comes to his or her lesson prepared to work hard and have fun!
- Lessons will be held weekly throughout the school year starting in September and ending in June.
- During school vacations, in the months of December, February and April, no lessons will take place. No formal lessons during Summer Vacation – but lessons can be scheduled based on teacher availability.
- Students will be billed monthly. Invoices will be emailed to the student's primary contact during the last week of the month. Cash accepted; checks payable to Julie Krugman.
- Students will be billed $60 on the first invoice in the fall to cover music supplies for the year. Students will also be billed an accompanist fee as needed for special events (auditions, competitions, and recitals).
- As with other activities, any cancellations made less than 24 hours in advance will continue to be charged to you in full. Make up lessons are sometimes possible for missed lessons when 24-hour notice is given – but not guaranteed.
- Please get a music folder for any sheet music given to you during your lessons and bring this music back to your lessons with you.
- Please bring a bottle of water to every lesson.
- I do not expect students to practice a lot at home; however, it is important to work on breathing exercises outside of studio time.
- Upon arrival at my house, please enter the studio by following the pathway to the left of the driveway. Enter through the sunroom, which is the waiting room. I'll let you know when to enter the studio. Parents are not required to stay for lessons, but if they wish to stay are welcome!
- Every spring, students present a Studio Recital. At the concert, students perform their favorite songs from the repertoire they have learned over the course of the year.

I have read the above lessons policy and agree to its terms.
